

Nordic Cable Tray Price List

AI Overview

Nordic cable tray prices vary depending on material, size, customization, and installation requirements, with X-Tray being a premium, high-quality option. Product Overview Nordic Wire Tray offers the X-Tray series, a premium cable tray system designed for flexibility, high load capacity, and easy installation. The trays are available in multiple materials and surface treatments, including stainless steel, which affects durability and cost. X-Tray is designed with the longest bracket spacing in the market, reducing the number of parts and installation time, which can lower overall project costs. Factors Affecting Price Material and Surface Treatment: Stainless steel or coated finishes are more expensive than standard steel options. Tray Size and Load Capacity: Wider or heavier-duty trays cost more due to additional material and structural requirements. Customization: Custom lengths, bends, or special configurations increase cost compared to standard stock items. Installation Efficiency: Fewer fasteners and simplified assembly (M8 bolts, minimal tools) can reduce labor costs, indirectly affecting total project expenditure. Order Volume: Larger industrial orders may benefit from bulk pricing, while smaller retail or project-specific orders may have higher per-unit costs. How to Obtain Pricing Since exact prices are not publicly listed, the best approach is to: Contact Nordic Wire Tray directly via their website to request a quote for your specific project. Provide details such as tray type, material, length, load requirements, and any customization. Consider shipping, lead time, and after-sales support when evaluating total cost. Additional Considerations Nordic Wire Tray emphasizes high-quality, long-lasting products that comply with IEC 61537 standards, which may justify a higher upfront cost but reduce maintenance and replacement expenses over time. Their trays are also designed for fast installation, which can save labor costs on large projects. For accurate pricing tailored to your project, it is recommended to request...
