AI Overview

Finnish manufacturers and suppliers of construction site electrical distribution boxes include Finn Electric Oy, Insta, and Ahlsell, offering tailored solutions for industrial and construction applications. Key Finnish Manufacturers and Suppliers

Finn Electric Oy is a Finnish specialist in electrical distribution and energy automation, providing solutions for power distribution, protection, and smart energy management. They serve construction firms, contractors, and industrial enterprises, offering co-design services, project support, and maintenance. Finn Electric maintains an extensive inventory of panel components in Helsinki and collaborates with panel builders like Finnvolt Oy to streamline production and delivery for construction projects.

Insta is a leading Finnish manufacturer of electrical and automation cabinets, producing IEC- and UL-certified solutions for demanding industrial environments. They manufacture over 7,000 high-quality electrical, automation, and control cabinets annually, suitable for applications including power plants, industrial factories, and construction sites. Insta offers both project-based and contract manufacturing, ensuring tailored solutions and reliable delivery schedules.

Ahlsell provides construction site distribution boxes and portable electrical panels designed for Nordic conditions. Their products include impact-resistant plastic housings, wall-mounted or portable units, and integrated safety features such as earthing fault circuit breakers and automatic fuses. Ahlsell emphasizes ergonomics, serviceability, and electrical safety, making their distribution boxes suitable for temporary power distribution on construction sites.
